One Survives Plane Crash In Argentina

51 More Feared Dead As Liner Plunges Into Sea Near Resort City

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — An Argentine airliner with 52 persons aboard crashed into the Atlantic Ocean Friday night off the seaside resort of Mar del Plata. Only one survivor was found.

Almost four hours after the vacation flight crashed a man was found alive on the beach, his clothes burned or ripped off. All others on the twin-engine plane apparently perished. Only three bodies were recovered in predawn darkness.

Searchers who were hampered by stormy waters said many of those in the plane presumably were trapped inside and drowned.

Among those on the passenger list were Eduardo Braun Menendez, one of Argentina's most famous scientists, and Dr. Jose Mexzadra, another well-known scientist. There was no immediate confirmation that they actually had been aboard.

The plane belonged to Austral Airlines, a new company known throughout the country for its penguin trademark because of flights to Argentina's cold and bleak southland.

The airliner was on a special summertime vacation flight from Buenos Aires to Mar del Plata, 240 miles to the south, and then to Bahia Blanca, another 260 miles west.

It was coming in for a landing at Mar del Plata in windy and rainy weather when it smashed into the ocean about 150 yards from shore.

The airline said it carried 47 passengers and a crew of five.

Second Victim Of Auto Crash Dies in Upper

UPPER SANDUSKY—F. Duane Horn, 16, of near Upper Sandusky, critically injured in an auto crash Thursday night which killed his grandmother, died at 10:30 a.m. today in Wyandot Memorial Hospital here.

He was a passenger in a car driven by his grandmother, Mrs. Hattie Hall of near Marseilles. Her auto spun out of control on Rt. 67 north of Marseilles during a snowstorm and smashed into an oncoming car driven by Marshall H. Kearns, 51, of near Nevada.

The youth was thrown from the car and suffered fractures of the sternum, fractures of both wrists and numerous cuts and bruises. Mrs. Hall died of a fractured skull.

Young Horn told sheriff's deputies after the accident that he and his grandmother were en route to a basketball game at the time of the crash. He made his home with his grandmother.

Funeral arrangements are being handled by the Bringman and Co. Funeral Home here.

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP)—Charity Davis celebrates her birthday today—and she's entitled to 117 candles on her cake.

Separated 8 Years

Delaware Mother, Daughter United

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A mother can tell. She can pick out her child from a crowd like a magnet seeking out a piece of iron.

And it seems that a mother never forgets her child's face, no matter how long they have been separated or how young her baby was when last seen.

Last Leg of Trip

That was the case Friday when Mrs. Denzel Gale spotted her daughter, Stenie, 12, coming off an airplane that brought her here on the last leg of a trip from East Germany.

They recognized each other immediately, embraced and cried.

Stenie was only 4 when Mrs. Gale fled East Germany to the West. The child was put in the care of Mrs. Gale's parents, and except for one brief meeting after that, it was the last time they saw each other.

The brief encounter occurred on the East - West German border. Stenie, with her grandmother, was on the communist side of the line; Mrs. Gale on the other. They met, and mother and daughter hugged each other like it was for the last time.

Tore Them Apart

Then a border guard literally tore them apart. Stenie was returned to her grandmother.

Mrs. Gale began a one-woman campaign to get her daughter out of East Germany. She enlisted the aid of several agencies, but none could help.

She met a young U. S. Air Force officer in West Germany and married him in 1953. They returned to this country and settled in Delaware.

Thousands of miles from her daughter, and Mrs. Gale was still fighting for her return. Last year, the Gales contacted the American Red Cross.

Arrangements Made

The Red Cross contacted its East German counterpart. An arrangement was made.

Friday, Stenie was flown to New York city, then winged her way into Columbus and into her mother's arms.

"Welcome home," said Mrs. Gale, through her tears.

"I'm glad to be here," said Stenie.

Auto Rolls Off Pier, Wyandot Sailor Drowns

CAREY — A 17-year-old Wyandot County sailor drowned at the Coddington Cove destroyer base at Middletown, R. I., Friday when the car in which he was riding plunged off the end of a pier into 35 feet of water.

The victim was identified as Roger Lee Spradlin, seaman apprentice, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Spradlin, who reside about 4½ miles west of here. They were notified of his death in a Navy Department telegram yesterday.

A public information officer at the base said preliminary investigation revealed that young Spradlin was one of three men sleeping in a car near the end of the pier shortly before dawn Friday.

Sentries on the pier rescued Jack D. McCammon, 28, gunner's mate second class of Waltham, Mass., and Michael A. Proproski, 22, seaman first class of Omaha, Neb. Both are reported in good condition at the base dispensary.

Petty Officer McCammon, owner of the car, told authorities he was starting to turn the car around when it toppled over the edge of the pier. He said a heavy fog had rolled in and that he didn't realize he had parked so close to the edge.

Seaman Apprentice Spradlin was assigned to the oiler USS Calloosahatchee at Newport, R. I. Before enlisting in the Navy he attended

Castro Says 450 Will Die By Execution

Cuban Chief Defends Purges and Calls for Big Rally of Approval

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Fidel Castro estimates that 450 persons will die before the current wave of executions ends in Cuba.

Already 205 persons have been reported shot on charges of crimes against the people during the dictatorship of Fulgencio Batista. Cuban prisons recently held an estimated 5,000 to 6,000 more for trial on similar charges but some have been released and others given jail terms.

Castro gave his estimate to a crowd of about 10,000 in front of the presidential palace Friday night. He called for a rally of half a million persons in Havana next Wednesday to signify approval of the executions.

People Applaud Shootings

The Cuban people generally have applauded the trials and executions. Police broke up 200 persons in front of a police station Friday demonstrating for lynching of one suspect.

The actions have aroused sharp criticism in the United States and other countries, however. Castro invited foreign newsmen and diplomats to attend the trials to check their fairness.

Newspapers in Brazil, Peru, Ecuador, Argentina and Costa Rica have called for a halt to the bloodshed. The Uruguayan representative to the United Nations appealed to Provisional President Manuel Urrutia to stop the killings. Other Latin-American delegates at the U.N. reportedly are planning a similar appeal. U.S. Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore) suggested in Washington that Castro invite U.N. observers to check the trial and execution methods.

Helping New Government

The Finance Ministry said today North American and Cuban business firms are voluntarily paying taxes in advance to help the revolutionary government.

The ministry said many companies without being asked, had paid levies which ordinarily are not due until March. More than 1½ million dollars have been paid by North American companies alone, the ministry said. The over-

Mercury Here Drops to Low Of Four Above

Winter held Marion County tightly in its grasp Friday, with the mercury getting no higher than 30 after an early morning low of zero.

It fell to a low of 4 above early this morning.

"A trace" of snow was recorded, making a total of two inches now on the ground.

The weathermman held forth little hope today that the cold would dissipate before Monday. He predicted a continuation of the wind and low temperatures tonight and Sunday, with today's expected high of 15 to be followed by a low of 3 tonight and a peak of 20 Sunday.

While it is cold in this section of Ohio, other parts of the country were busy today digging out from heavy blankets of snow.

Paper Price Rises

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Enquirer announced plans in today's editions to increase the price of its Sunday edition to 25 cents. The five-cent hike will be effective Sunday. The newspaper said the move is caused by "greatly increased costs of newsprint, larger payrolls and higher printing and distribution costs." The daily editions of the morning newspaper will stay at seven cents per copy.

Five Major Points Aired At Gathering

No Compromise, New Proposals Offered on Topics of Discussion

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan conferred for an hour 45 minutes today. The Russian leader discussed at least five outstanding East-West issues with the President but failed to offer any new proposals or concessions.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles agreed with Mikoyan that the talks had been useful.

Among the subjects discussed, Hagerty said, were the Berlin situation, the questions of Germany, disarmament, increased trade, and freer exchanges of persons between Russia and the United States.

No New Proposals

"I can also say," Hagerty added, "there were no new proposals during this discussion."

Hagerty made clear his comment referred specifically to speculation in advance of Mikoyan's arrival here that he would probably bring some new proposals or offers of concession on the Berlin situation.

The press secretary said there was no mention of any visit by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to the United States nor a visit of Vice President Nixon to the Soviet Union. There had been speculation about such visits.

Hagerty declined to answer directly when asked whether the subject of a possible summit conference or a four power East-West meeting came up. He said, "I've gone as far as I can."

Hagerty also said he could not answer when he was asked whether Eisenhower was "more or less hopeful" as a result of his talk with Mikoyan.

Useful Exchange of Views

When the meeting in Eisenhower's office broke up, Mikoyan appeared briefly before reporters. He said he and Eisenhower had a useful exchange of views and that he had conveyed greetings from Premier Khrushchev to Eisenhower.

Mikoyan said he had received a responsive message from Eisenhower of greetings to Khrushchev.

Two Local Men Badly Hurt in Auto Accident

Car Skids on Slippery Section of Rt. 4, Hits Tree in Union County

Two Marion men were seriously injured Friday when their car skidded out of control on Rt. 4 in Union County and wrapped around a tree, pinning one of them in the wreckage.

Patrolmen of the Delaware post said Donald Bowers, 30, of 362 Franconia Ave., the driver, suffered severe chest injuries and a broken right leg.

A passenger, John Kelley, 26, of the Buckeye Trailer Camp sustained a skull fracture, fractures of the right leg and left elbow and facial lacerations.

Richard Muller, 33, of near Marion, another passenger, suffered a bump on the head, bruised ribs and a cut on the left hand.

The three were brought to Marion General Hospital in Ballinger and Winter ambulances from Richwood. The accident occurred at 9:05 a.m. 12 miles south of Marion in Union County.

Patrolmen said Bowers was transferred to University Hospital in Columbus late Friday in a Boyd ambulance where he underwent chest surgery. His condition was listed as "satisfactory" by hospital authorities this morning.

Kelley, who had to be cut out of the twisted wreckage at the accident scene, was listed in "fair" condition at General Hospital this morning. Attendants said Muller was treated and released.

According to the report, the southbound auto went out of control on slippery pavement and slammed into the base of a large tree broadside. The car was a complete loss and had to be cut away from the tree, officers said.

U.S. Ambassador Raps Korea's Security Law

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — A Seoul newspaper quoted U.S. Ambassador Walter Dowling today as expressing shock over the way a controversial new South Korean security law was enacted.

Dowling left by plane for Washington Friday to advise the State Department on sharp political tensions aroused by the law which permits imprisonment of newsmen for criticising high officials. The law also provides prison terms for persons distributing false information.

The Korea Times, an independent English-language daily, and its sister Korean paper Hankook Ilbo said its correspondent had interviewed Dowling en route from Seoul to Tokyo.

Useful in Space

Atom Power Plant Will Fill Big Role

(Picture on Page 12)

WASHINGTON (AP)—An atomic device with no moving parts and small enough to be tucked in a handbag may be the forerunner of means of providing the electricity to help man in space.

This was one result foreseen today of a new method to provide power over lengthy periods without the aid of batteries.

The new development, hailed by the Atomic Energy Commission as "highly significant," was announced Friday at the White House.

Future Uses Told

Col. Jack Armstrong, deputy chief of the AEC's aircraft reactor division, today predicted such batteryless power might also be used in the future to:

Provide juice for instruments in large, unmanned satellites for long periods of time; furnish shelter heat and power for communications and weather instruments in remote areas like the arctic and antarctic; provide new types of navigational aid for air and sea traffic; and allow use of radio-controlled beacons which might forecast the development of hurricanes.

Five-Pound Device

The device employs radioactive polonium 210 as a heat source and chemicals which convert the heat into electricity without any moving parts.

The AEC calls it SNAP 3 — short for system for nuclear auxiliary power.

The development at present consists of a five-pound device, 4¾ inches in diameter and 5½ inches high — somewhat resembling a ship's barometer. Officials estimate the weight could be cut to three pounds.

The model costs $15,000. But AEC spokesmen say it probably could be turned out on a production basis for about $200 per unit.

Technicians for the AEC, which sponsored the development, said the device is the most efficient for its particular purpose known to exist anywhere—including the Soviet Union.

The device is designed primarily for use as a vastly longer lasting substitute for batteries in space satellites.

Will Seek Custody

PARIS (AP) — Actress Ingrid Bergman contends that former husband Roberto Rossellini doesn't have a big enough apartment to care for their three children if he should win them in custody proceedings.

Miss Bergman's lawyer, Rene Floriot, said today this would be one point in a custody appeal to be presented in a Paris court Monday. The children, Robertino, 8, and twin girls Isotta and Ingrid, 6, are living with the actress and her new husband, Lars Schmidt, on a farm near Paris.

DiSalle Alert to Cooperation

GOP Minority To Play Key Role in Legislature

By DUANE E. CROFT
Marion Star Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS—All the talk about the Democrats' newly acquired control of the State House tends to create the impression among political laymen that the Republicans currently are forgotten men here.

However true that may be in some branches of Ohio's government, there is one small group very much aware of the GOP's presence. That is Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and his Democratic leaders in the 103rd General Assembly. They recognize that the minority party can be mighty important.

One basic reason is that, although the Democrats hold substantial majorities in both chambers, there are times when they will have to depend upon Republican votes to get what they want.

The most obvious example is legislation bearing the emergency clause to put it into immediate effect. Such a bill requires a two-thirds vote, or two more votes than the Democrats have in the Senate and 14 more votes than they have in the House of Representatives.

The new majority leaders were introduced to that problem when they pushed through Gov. DiSalle's cabinet salary bill the very first week of the session.

They will face it on at least one other major legislative subject —supplemental unemployment benefits, a plank in the Democratic campaign platform. Two of the three bills already introduced to permit simultaneous payment of SUB and state unemployment compensation carry the emergency clause in the hope of quickly re-

Incident at Ephesus

One of the most forceful stories in the Bible has to do with an incident that occured in the city of Ephesus during the Apostle Paul's two-year stay there.

The Ephesians, for the most part, were worshipers of the goddess Diana. Paul was preaching the doctrine of the one living God, and he was having considerable success; many were converted from their pagan beliefs.

In Ephesus at the time was a man named "Demetrius," a silversmith who had built up a thriving business manufacturing and selling idols and shrines for the worship of Diana.

He employed a large number of the town's craftsmen to help him turn out his products. It was a profitable undertaking for all concerned.

But because of Paul's preaching, business dropped off. People gave up their worship of Diana and, consequently, quit buying the silver statues and trinkets that came from Demetrius' shop.

THIS WASN'T good, Demetrius thought. This man, Paul, was turning away his customers.

"There are no gods made by hand," Paul was saying, and the Ephesians were believing him.

Demetrius called a mass meeting of his workers at the local theater. He told them that Paul was destroying Diana's magnificence, that soon the temple of their goddess would be despised, that their craft and livelihood were in danger.

The meeting became a near-riot. The crowd's demonstration against Paul lasted for two hours.

"Great is Diana of the Ephesians!" they shouted, over and over again.

Finally the town clerk took the platform and quieted the demonstration.

"Everyone knows that the city of Ephesus is a worshiper of Diana," he said. "This cannot be denied.

"Why, then, this demonstration? This man has broken no law; it is only that he disagrees with you!

"If you really believe what you say you believe, you have nothing to fear. If this man Paul is a phony, soon he will pass out of the picture. If not, nothing you do here will stop him!"

The crowd dispersed and went home. The town clerk had presented a valid argument and had won his point.

THE PRINCIPLE involved here hasn't changed in the last 1,900 years. If we really believe what we say we believe, if it is an ethical belief, if our position is clear and we stick by it, we have nothing to fear from those who disagree with us.

On the other hand, if we do not really believe what we say we believe, not only will false beliefs overrule us, but the truth eventually will destroy us.

Will Address Men

Rev. Waldemar Haupt

Speaker for a dinner meeting of Methodist Men at Epworth Methodist Church Tuesday night will be the Rev. Waldemar A. Haupt of Springfield. He is pastor of the High Street Methodist Church there. His talk will be designed to present a challenge to the Methodist Men as to what might be accomplished by them as an organization.

A graduate of Syracuse University and Boston University School of Theology, he has taken special work at Harvard University. He had a short period of missionary training work in Aguas Calientes, Mexico and in Cuba and has served as associate minister with Bishop F. Gerald Endsley at North Broadway Church in Columbus and as pastor at South Zanesville and Sylvania before going to Springfield two years ago. Time of the dinner in Fellowship Hall at the church here will be 6:30.

Cloak of Responsibility

A Sermonette

By REV. ROBERT A. BYLER
Pastor of Epworth Methodist Church

The crucifixion of Jesus reveals a very amazing fact. Who took the responsibility for putting him to death? No one! Not one single person or group of persons would accept the responsibility.

See how it was shuttled around. First the scribes, then the Pharisees, then the chief of priests, then Annas, then Caiaphas, over to Pilate, who made a sweeping gesture of getting rid of it by washing his hands in a basin before the mob. The mob is never responsible even though Pilate asked the people, "What shall I do with Him?" They cried, "Crucify Him," but they didn't do the hanging. Nor could a police force hunting for the responsible party track down Judas and pin the charge of responsibility on him.

ISN'T THAT amazing — how elusive responsibility is in the case of Jesus' death? But greater still is the fact that responsibility is always an elusive thing. And the average person works harder to get away from responsibility than to put the cloak on and wear it.

This principle can be applied to any church. If a church is running down at the heels it is due to ignoring the cloak of responsibility. Each member of a church by virture of that membership must accept responsibility for the attendance at services, the size of the weekly offering, the function of the organization, the outreach of that church into the community. If there is any weakness manifest in Christendom today, it is a shifty membership that refuses to wear the cloak of responsibility. It would be revolutionary in nature if a strong man of God were, like Nathan of old, to point his finger at you and say, "Thou art the man."

LOOK AT OUR own city as this idea relates itself to us. One of the great needs from the standpoint of administration of the city's affairs is the best talent we have. The most qualified persons never run for civic office, however. Why? It all boils down to the idea that they do not feel it is their responsibility. Of course they live here, and work here, and really want Marion to be a fine, progressive city, but let some one else govern it. But how can any city be either fine or progressive unless its top talented citizens are in her government?

Nearly every conversation when people assemble in the spring of the year has the proverbial theme song of the condition of Marion's city streets. Who is responsible for the present plight of our streets? Every citizen in Marion is, but the visitors to our town draw one conclusion. We are either too poor or we are an irresponsible people. It is hardly the former when the 1958 survey of buying power ranks Marion 133rd in the nation in retail sales per household. No, every time we drive through a rough section of street our mind should be jostled into recognizing that we do not have the cloak of responsibility around us.

After all, responsibility is response to an ability. Remember Jesus' approach to the man who hid his talents. He lost them, didn't he? What a tragedy it would be for Marion to lose her potential because there were few who responded with their ability.

You can find in Christ the things that make you truly happy - Why not give Him a chance?

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

What To Do About Your Difficulties

I was riding on a New York subway train recently and could not help observing the two people seated directly across from me.

Vincent Peale

They were a man and a woman, in their mid-forties, apparently husband and wife, and they had a troubled look about them.

I guess I stared, but they did not notice. They sat there looking straight ahead beyond me into the tunnel walls and stations as they flashed by. As I watched, they moved even closer together. She was a little woman and he a rather large man whose bulk overshadowed her. I saw her open her handbag, take out a handkerchief, put it over the end of a finger and dab away tears from her eyes.

Her husband saw it, too. He took out his handkerchief and blew his nose vociferously. Then he put it back in his pocket and reached out and took her hand. She pressed his and turned to give him a sweet but sad smile.

Just then the train came to my station and I had to get off. I looked back through the windows at the couple and watched them disappear as the train vanished into the dark tunnel. I shall never know them, nor shall I ever know what it was that troubled them. But I shall remember this vignette of human sorrow and feel that their sorrow, whatever it was, touched my life too.

"THE WHOLE WORLD is full of trouble," is one of the oldest of cliches. And, of course, it is true. But when I once repeated it to a wise old philosopher, he answered me, "Yes, the whole world is full of trouble, but it is also full of the overcoming of trouble." And that is the glory and the genius of religious faith. For faith has an effervescence, an indomitable and undefeated quality about it, an optimism that can never be quenched. It tells its followers in every generation of time that, while there is always tribulation in the world, they can be of good cheer, because through God they can overcome the world.

One of the greatest statements ever made is found in the most dynamic book ever written, the Holy Bible. It is this: ". . . the kingdom of God is within you." Do you know what those significant words mean? Simply that God's goodness is in each of us. They mean that God's own strength is in us. They also mean that God's pattern of thinking may be our own. In other words, all of God's riches are potentially within us awaiting our appropriation of them.

And these are tremendous resources too. They are much more than enough to overcome any and all of your difficulties. So draw upon them; learn to use them. But how is that done? . . . you may well ask.

THE FIRST STEP is to realize that you have this great power-potential within you; and to really believe that with it you can effectively handle any difficulty. If you think you are lacking in potential you will be lacking in power. But when you know the power that is within you, then you will be conscious of adequate strength.

Second, once you realize you have this strength you must be humble about it. This is nothing you acquire on your own; God alone gives it to you And always it must be used as God wants it used.

Third, and most important perhaps, give of the power within you to help others. In helping others, we learn how best to help ourselves. Strangely enough in the very act of giving to others you renew power within yourself. The more strength you give to others the more you will have for yourself. In this process you will develop increasing power over your difficulties.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

"For Thy love we thank Thee, Lord . . . for Thy help we pray."

Just a few words, rooted in gratitude. But gratitude means so much . . . to the Giver . . . and to those who receive!

To God it means that we are not too busy enjoying His gifts to understand His love.

To us it means that we have not forgotten the heart of life. We haven't lost sight of the spiritual center toward which the Church constantly points our vision. And to our children it means a family life based on faith and prayer.

Of course, our "blessing" or "grace" is only a small part of the Christian Life to which the Church calls us. But, like every piece in a puzzle, it belongs there!

And the sooner we put all the pieces in place, the sooner we'll understand the WHOLE PICTURE.
